GOVERNOR AYCOCK IS SICK.

HE CAN MAKE NO MORE SPEECHES.

Has a Severe Attack of Malarial Fever and His Physicians Refuse to Allow Him to Go on the Campaign Again—Fourth Annual Session of the Daughters Met Today—A Soldier's Narrow Escape in the Philippines.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.
Raleigh, Oct. 10.—Governor-elect C. B. Aycock notified the Democratic State Committee last night that to his deep regret he would be unable to make any more speeches in the National campaign. He made two speeches and that his physician interfered. Mr. Aycock has a severe attack of malarial fever and his physician says it will require a month's time for him to regain his health and strength.

The fourth annual session of the North Carolina Daughters of the Confederacy began here today. Miss Alida Rodman, of Washington, presiding. This morning there was a business session opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. M. M. Marshall, rector of Christ church, this city. The feature of the day was the public session, in the interest of the Jefferson Davis monument. There were, at this, introductory remarks by Col. T. S. Kenan and an address by Capt. C. B. Denson, on the causes which led up to the civil war.

The State charters the North Carolina Peanut Company, of Weldon, capital $50,000, with privilege of increasing to $100,000. M. W. Ransom, T. L. Emry and others stockholders.

A charter is also granted the Western Furniture Company, of Marion, capital $10,000, with leave to increase it to $40,000; F. F. Wrenn and others stockholders.

Twenty convicts were sent from the penitentiary today to the State farms on the Roanoke, to pick cotton.

There are now 23 orphans in the Catholic protective here. The number will now steadily increase.

A letter from Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant Bradley J. Martin, of the 28th, U. S. V., in the Philippines tells of a lively engagement he was in. He shot with his revolver and killed in the nick of time, a Filipino officer, who was trying to kill him. In a few minutes a soldier, of Wooten's regiment, was killed so near to him that he was splattered with the blood.

Ex-Senator Jarvis will begin next week to make speeches in the National campaign. He will make no speeches in the interest of his own candidacy for the Senate.

State Treasurer Worth went to the Fair at Greensboro today.

On Thursday of the State Fair there are to be two very notable races, each for a purse of $300. One will be a trot, best three in five, and the time is to be 2:15; the other pacing, time, 2:18. Entries close Oct. 15. Secretary Davis says horses will be here which will make the time.

A LETTER FROM CHINA.

Mr. P. E. Stroud, one of the army recruiting officers at this place, today received a letter from his brother, Mr. E. R. Stroud, who is a member of a battalion of marines doing service in China. Mr. Stroud arrived at Taku with his regiment on August 20th. The letter was written from Tien-Tsin three days later, the marines having been transferred to that place.

Mr. Stroud writes that his regiment was stationed about 15 miles from the main body of the allied forces and that everything was at that time comparatively quiet. Desolation and ruin were apparent on every hand, while the putrifying bodies of dead Chinamen were lying all about. The stench arising from these dead bodies, Mr. Stroud writes, was almost unbearable.

When the letter was written the weather was agreeable and the soldiers were said to be fairly well pleased.

The regiment to which Mr. Stroud was attached has since been transferred to the Philippines.

The reception to be given by Greensboro Lodge No. 80, Knights of Pythias in K. of P. Hall tonight, will begin at 9 o'clock. Every Pythian in the city is invited to attend, accompanied by a lady.

Miss Meta Beall will sing a solo during the evening.

PURCHASES TIMBER LANDS

A MONTANA SYNDICATE'S BIG DEAL

The Concern Represented by Dr. Ector, a Native of Guilford, Who, With Mr. Brooks, Has Closed Options for 45,000 Acres of Hard-wood Timber Lands in Western North Carolina—What They Saw Was a Revelation to Them—Will Return in a Short Time.

It is known to some of our people that Dr. E. L. P. Ector, of Missoula, Montana, a native of Guilford county, has been for some time securing options on hard-wood timber lands in Western North Carolina in the interest of a wealthy syndicate in Montana, which he represents. Last week Mr. W. F. Brooks, a member of the syndicate, and his wife arrived here, stopping at the Hotel Guilford.

Dr. Ector and Mr. Brooks went at once to Mitchell and other mountain counties, where they closed options for 45,000 acres of land. They returned here yesterday and expressed themselves much pleased with their purchases and with North Carolina generally.

They saw some of the native hard-wood in finished work here in West Market Street church and Grissom & Fordham's drug store, which gave them a still better opinion of their land purchases.

They, with Mrs. Brooks, left for Montana yesterday afternoon, saying they expected to return in a short time with others of the syndicate with a view to further purchases in North Carolina.

Mr. Brooks remarked that the opportunities presented for good investments in this State were simply a revelation to him and he wondered why they have so long been overlooked and neglected.

HOME TALENT SCORES A HIT.

Delightful Entertainment at the Academy Last Night.

The Academy of Music was comfortably filled last evening, when the curtain arose for Mr. Wesley White's entertainment. The arrangements for the evening were perfect, and the performance proved to be one of the most thoroughly enjoyable ever given by Greensboro talent.

The entertainment was opened by a piano solo—Gottescholk's "Sherzo" superbly played by Mrs. Myra Albright. Mr. Wesley White's baritone solo, "Bid Me to Love," was heartily applauded.

The hit of the evening was made when Miss Nellie Merrimon recited "A Kentucky Cinderella." The talented reciter was at her best, and by the faultless interpretation of difficult characters, completely captivated the large audience.

Mr. T. J. McAdoo's tenor solo, and Miss Grace Clary's soprano were up to the usual high standard of these two splendid soloists and highly pleased the audience.

After the musical program, the one-act farce comedy, "The Sleeping Car," was presented. Miss May Small, always a favorite with Greensboro audiences, played the leading role in a charming manner. Dr. Charles Scott, as "The Californian," also won the especial attention of the audience. The other parts were all well taken and the play was presented without the slightest hitch.

Mr. Jordan at Home Again.

The familiar face of Mr. W. M. Jordan is again to be seen at the McAdoo House, where he was head clerk before he assumed the management of the Carrolton Hotel, Raleigh, which he recently gave up. He came up to attend the Fair and was called on to help out Proprietor Perkins and his assistants in the rush they are enjoying.

"Enter Grandma."

Secretary Walsh, of the Fair, was considerably puzzled when he received a telegram yesterday reading, "Enter Grandma for all the races. I think she's a sure winner." Investigation developed the fact that the sender of the telegram had a horse named Grandma which he desired to enter.

An interesting game of baseball between Guilford College and the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts is in progress at the Fair grounds this afternoon.

OPENING OF THE FAIR

A MOST AUSPICIOUS EVENT

FORMAL ADDRESS BY JUDGE BOYD

His Speech Appropriate and Felicitous—Greensboro the Place for Such an Institution and the Time Exactly Right—The Star Spangled Banner and Columbia En-twined With Dixie and The Bonnie Blue Flag—A Good Crowd Present—President J. Van Lindley in His Glory—A Highly Creditable Opening.

The Central Carolina Fair was formally opened at eleven o'clock this morning by a very happy and appropriate speech by Judge James E. Boyd, and the prospects for a great success for the first annual meeting are bright.

The crowd at the opening was up to expectation. The fact that the opening had been postponed one day by the bad weather was in some degree compensated for by the beautiful day which opened this morning. The Fair is to be a big success, and as President J. Van Lindley stood on the large steps to the main entrance of Exhibit Hall it was easy to see that he was reflecting the happiness of the management at the fine weather, fine opening and the many signs of success of his long cherished project.

The opening procession left the square at about half past ten, led by Chief Marshal Will McAdoo and his assistants. The cavalcade of marshals was followed by carriages containing the speaker of the day, Judge Boyd, President Lindley, Hon. R. B. Glenn, Congressman Kitchin, Ex-Congressman W. W. Barber, Col. Barringer, and others. Arriving at Exhibit Hall, the party proceeded to the second floor, where the speaker was introduced by Mayor Taylor. The speech of Judge Boyd was listened to with close attention, and frequent applause. He said:

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen—I deem it an honor to be accorded the privilege of opening the first annual Fair of the Central Carolina Fair Association. This Association has inaugurated and put in operation a most worthy enterprise, and one that will, I know, prove beneficial in a high degree in the development and progress of central North Carolina.

"The grounds of the Fair are located in one of the most rapidly growing, the most progressive and attractive cities in the State. Greensboro is well named the Gate City, for it is an opening through which the principle travel in North Carolina must pass. Twenty-eight passenger trains daily to and from Greensboro prove the fact that we live in perhaps the principal railroad centre in the State and one of the most important centres in the South.

"Ninety-two years ago, under the order of the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions of Guilford County, the original tract of land for the location of Greensboro was purchased. The object of the purchase according to the terms of the order was to procure a location for a court-house, jail and whipping-post. The old court-house was at Martinsville, and from it the sacred spot near by on which was fought one of the principal battles of the Revolutionary War derives its name; and Greensboro is named in honor of General Greene, the distinguished officer who commanded the Colonial forces at the battle of Guilford Court House. For years the present city, which was then a town, moved along after the manner of the County Court House towns. It was a place of residence of several distinguished men, but its population was small and its commercial interests were of very little importance. As late as 1890 the population of Greensboro was taken at thirty-one hundred; but in ten years, and especially in the past four years, the growth of the city has been almost miraculous. The population of the city and its immediate suburbs is now in the neighborhood of twenty thousand; and magnificent residences, imposing business houses, hotel buildings and large manufacturing establishments have

THE OPENING SOCIAL EVENT.

DANCE AT THE CLUB LAST NIGHT.

Gallant Men and Lovely Women, Bright and Popular Members of Society, Were There—The Event a Successful and Pleasant Affair in Every Respect—Dancing Was from 9:30 to 1 o'clock—Participants, Stags and Chaperones.

The opening social event of the week—the dance at the club rooms of the Merchants and Manufacturers Associations last night—was a decided success. Some of the brightest and most popular members of the society of Greensboro and other places were present, and it is doubtful if a more pleasant dance was ever given in this city.

The dancing commenced at 9:30 and continued until 1 o'clock. The following were the participants:

American Typewriter Finds Its Way to All Corners of Earth.

Exports of This Machine, as Well as of Tools and Other Machinery, Are Constantly Increasing—Last Year's Record.

Exports of American tools and machinery do not show the shrinkage in volume which recent reports would indicate. Some concern has been expressed by leading export houses by reason of a falling off in foreign orders due to the high prices of iron and steel. In this connection it will be interesting to note that the exports of builders' hardware, saws and tools during the fiscal year 1900 were the largest in the history of our export trade, being $9,646,017, against $7,842,372 in 1899, $6,627,466 in 1897 and $5,509,188 in 1896, prior to which year the exports in this line had never aggregated so much as $5,000,000.

While our chief market for machinery is still to be found in European countries, an increasing proportion is being sold in the far east, especially in British Australasia, Japan and India. In 1898 our exports of builders' hardware and tools to British Australasia amounted to $877,635, in 1900 they aggregated $1,325,793; in 1898 our exports in this line to Japan were $76,500, while in 1900 they were $106,251. Our exports of typewriters to British Australasia in 1898 amounted to $60,039, while in the fiscal year 1900 they were $101,002; to Japan the exports of typewriters in 1898 amounted to but $4,220; in 1899 they had increased to $7,262, and in 1900 to $16,579, of which sum $2,211 were exported during the month of June alone, thus forecasting in some degree the possibilities of future development in this article of export. Commenting upon the increase in exports of typewriters, a prominent American manufacturer is quoted by the New York Commercial as saying:

"The demand for American typewriters was never greater, and our machines are pretty good globe-trotters. We have just made a shipment to Puntas Arenas, on the Straits of Magellan, at the extreme southern point of South America, and another lot of typewriters has been sent north to Vladivostok, Russia, for the use of the imperial government. Many of the missionaries and foreign business men in China use our machines, and nearly every American regiment in the Philippines has from three to five machines; and as business increases at Manila under American auspices there will be a big demand for typewriters. The typewriter has become well-nigh universal in its use, and is found in all the large business houses in the principal cities of the world, and its keyboard represents nearly all languages. The exceptions are the Japanese and Chinese. As their characters are upright and composed of many hundred figures or signs, it seems practically impossible to produce them on the typewriter's keyboard."

THE SIMMONS CONTROVERSY.

WEBSTER'S TURN IN THE AFFAIR.

He Replies at Length to Judge Allen's Defense and Quotes Copiously from the Files--Shows That Although Mr. Simmons Was Warm in Silver in 1896, He Was Altogether Distant in 1894--Challenges Judge Allen to Produce a Line Showing His Candidate Had a Kind Word for Silver at the Latter Date.

The Telegram always gives both sides a whack. By request it published Judge Allen's article replying to one by Mr. Webster, and by request it publishes, today, Mr. Webster's reply. The latter is, however, too long for one issue. The remainder will be given tomorrow.

The Weekly has been trying, at intervals, for a year or more to secure from Chairman Simmons an expression of his sentiments upon the client and echo episode of the Legislature of 1899. We have urged that by virtue of his official position and the fact that he is a candidate for the high office of United States Senator, that he should let the people know to what extent he regards the platform of the party as binding; whether he thinks it binds editors, farmers, teachers and the private in the ranks, but exempts lawyers and legislators. He denounced—and very properly, we think—the editor of the Asheville Gazette for selling his services to the Republican leaders to fight the constitutional amendment, but has not explained wherein that transaction differs from the action of a Democratic lawyer, in selling his services to corporations and individuals to render of no effect a bill aimed at trusts, and combines in North Carolina. We have called his attention to the News and Observer's account of the manner in which his law partner, Mr. James H. Pou, figured in the fight on the Stevens anti-trust bill, but not a word have we been able to twist out of him as to whether he approved or disapproved of the cutting of all the meat out of that measure in the Senate committee.

In our issue of Sept. 20th we emphasized these points and at the same time discussed one of Judge Womack's eleven reasons why Mr. Simmons should be elected to the Senate. Judge Womack's 4th reason reads as follows:

"4. In 1894 and 1896 he boldly and publicly, in the State conventions and elsewhere, advocated policies opposed by the President, declaring he would surrender his office before he would surrender his principles."

We submitted that we were a member of the conventions of 1894 and 1896, but did not recall that Mr. Simmons was conspicuous in either for his opposition to Mr. Cleveland's policies; that we had preserved a copy of the North Carolinian containing an extended report of the convention of 1894, and failed to find therein that he opened his mouth either upon silver or the Senatorial primary asked for by Gov. Jarvis, the two leading questions before that convention. Furthermore, we called attention to the fact that Mr. Simmons was at that time recognized as a fast friend of Senator Ransom, to whom he owed his position as collector; that the defeat of the proposition for a primary insured Senator Ransom's return to the Senate in the event that a Democratic Legislature was elected and that the campaign was not run on the 16 to 1 platform. We quoted from "one of the exchanges" the following utterances of Mr. Simmons in a debate with Mr. Marion Butler in Wayne county in 1894, to show that far from being a defiant, rantankerous free silverite in that campaign, as Judge Womack would have us believe, he was in harmony with his chief, Senator Ransom, on the money question:

"I am in favor of bimetallicism; I am in favor of putting silver on an equal footing with gold. And if England, Germany and other foreign countries would agree to it we could have free silver here right away, but the time is not yet ripe for free silver; if it had been Cleveland and the last Congress would have given it to you.

"My friends, we are all in a good fix if we only knew it. We have got more money today than any other country except France. * * Free silver can't do much for you anyway, for Colonel Polk said it would only increase the circulation at 30 cents a head."

Judge W. R. Allen, of Goldsboro, is out in a communication which purports to be an answer to our editorial, but which leaves more unexplained than it explains. It will be found in full in another part of this paper.

Judge Allen shows that our recollection of the events of the convention of 1896 is faulty and quotes from the is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been too low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price in now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

Weekly of July 2d, and the North Carolinian of the same date to prove that Mr. Simmons rung true in that convention for 16 to 1. The following is his quotation from the North Carolinian:

"Collector F. M. Simmons came forward. He said he was a Federal office holder, but, above that, he was a Democrat, a North Carolinian and an Anglo Saxon (applause), and was in favor of free silver, 16 to 1. (Applause.) Before London or John Bull had existence, God Almighty had placed the two money metals in the bowels of the earth at about the proportion of 16 to 1. He denounced the war against silver as a war against the masses and humanity. At the bottom of the question lay the storm centre; the question. Which shall rule, the man or the dollar. (Applause.) The gold standard had in twenty-three years confiscated one-half of the property of this land. (Applause.) Mr. Simmons exhorted Democrats to continue the fight and preserve to our children the civilization of our race. (Applause.)"

We thank Judge Allen for this extract, even if it does show that the Weekly's memory slipped a cog. We call attention to the date, July 2, 1896. Judge Allen will search the files of the North Carolinian in vain for such a declaration from Mr. Simmons either in the convention or campaign of 1894. We challenge him to produce its like in that year. If the war against silver was a war against humanity, was it any less a crime in 1893, 1894 and 1895 than it was at the tail end of Cleveland's administration? If the gold standard had confiscated one-half the property of this country during the twenty-three years ending June, 1896, Mr. Simmons must have known that the cruel, grinding process was going on in 1894, yea more, in 1893, when Senator Vance lifted up his voice as a trumpet against the deep damnation of the warfare against the money of the common people, and was punished and humiliated therefor; yet his champion, Judge Allen, does not attempt to show that he had a word to say against it either in the convention or campaign of 1894. He does not deny that whatever influence Mr. Simmons possessed was given to re-elect Senator Ransom, who followed Cleveland off the platform on the money question. The Fayetteville Observer, in its issue of March 1, 1894, called attention to the interesting fact that Mr. Simmon's nomination as collector was sent in one day (Sept. 5, 1893) while on the next the New York papers announced Senator Ransom's change from the North Carolina side of the silver question to the administration's side.

Judge Allen's quotation proves too much. It shows that in the convention of 1896, when the battle for silver in the Democratic party had been fought and won, when Cleveland, instead of being held up as the equal of Jefferson and Jackson, as he was in the convention of 1894, was repudiated by a vote of 875 to 31, and his name hissed. Mr. Simmons was very pronounced for silver. But turn back two years—the fight between the man and the dollar has been raging for twenty-one years, the whole power of Cleveland's administration is being used to commit the Democratic party to the gold standard. Which side are you on, Mr. Simmons? We find Col. Waddell saying in the State Convention that the man who disagrees with Cleveland on his financial views and quietly submits to an endorsement is worse than a coward. Mr. Simmons is dumb. Turn back three years and we find Senator Vance saying in the last speech of his life, at the State Fair in Raleigh, in October, 1893:

"Now it is known to you that a great contest is pending in the Congress of the United States and is dividing and agitating the people all over this great land on the question of their money. Propositions have passed the House of Representatives and are pending now in the Senate which would demonetize one-half of our currency. Do you know what that means, my friends? You do not. * * Do not let any man deceive you by

TEDDY IN BATHOS.

In a certain way we are fond of Teddy Roosevelt. He is never dull. He is by no means an uninteresting individual. His accomplishments lie in so many different lines he is almost sure to keep out of the ruts. As cow puncher or as Governor, that modesty and simplicity of manner which always characterizes him lends equal charm. He is now getting up a little lay sermon for that great class of individuals who are merely hearers and not doers of the word. When he preaches it, there is no doubt that its earnest, sweet and gentle manner will inspire its hearers to get a move on themselves. But it is as a graceful rhetorician that Teddy shone out in Illinois Monday. Hear him:

You, too, are the heirs of the men who fought under Grant and upheld the arms of Lincoln. We hold our heads high because of what those men did. Are you not going to leave to your children in their turn a similar heritage of honor? We must do our share of the world's work of the great world powers. If we flinch from the task we shall show that our loyalty to the mighty men who were equal to the mighty task is a loyalty of the lips and not a loyalty of heart and deed. Remember the conditions of the Coxey's and the free soup-houses of six years ago.

Now if it were any other but Teddy himself, we should presume to inquire what is the connection between "our share of the world's work" and the Coxey's. Is our part of "the world's work" keeping the Coxey's off the grass? And how does the flinching of the descendants of Lincoln and Grant suggest in even the fertile mind of Mr. Roosevelt the soup-houses of six years ago? Perhaps the high-head-holding of these descendants brought to his mind the picture of the Coxey's as with eyes fixed upon the dome of the capitol, they moved with heads high in the air, till yanked off the grass by the policemen. This may have suggested the Coxey's as we said, but what brought up the soup-houses?

The Durham Sun, we hope, is unduly alarmed. From a leading editorial of yesterday we quote:

Men and brothers, lift up your eyes and behold the field ripe for the harvest. To work, to work, to work, while there is yet time, while it is yet day. Go to your Republican neighbor and reason with him as you would for your life.

There must be work, active, earnest, persistent, if the Republic is to be saved. Let every man feel his personal responsibility in this great strife. The free institutions of his country and the future of his children are hanging in the balance.

Four weeks from tomorrow and the ballots will be cast which will determine whether this shall be a government by the people, for the people, or one of imperialism and conquests that will put the people in a state of serfdom.

Which shall it be?

That is indeed gloomy. Of course the election is in doubt. We hope Mr. Bryan may be elected, yet there is hardly to be found a man who would not now prefer Mr. McKinley's chance to that of Mr. Bryan. Reasoning thus, and accepting the Sun's disheartening statement, it appears that we are all fast approaching an untimely end.

There are few things more phlegmatic than dice, and yet the latter are easily rattled.

supplanted the modest dwellings, the street corner shops and the old fashioned inns of former years. It was befitting, therefore, that our people should start this enterprise, and provide for an exhibition of the products of this section and surrounding country. We are in the midst of a section noted for its progress, its industrial enterprise and the education and refinement of its people; and the gathering of the citizens at this Fair, together with the exhibits here, will prove the fact that we are making wonderful advancement in all that goes to make a country comfortable, contented and happy.

"An exhibition like the one we are opening here is useful in a great many ways; it brings the people together to witness the results of good farming, gardening, trucking and fruit raising; and also to see the improvements in the methods of cultivating the lands and of making life a pleasure and enjoyment. Here are also to be seen the result of good stock breeding and training. The evidences of genius and inventiveness are also here. The exhibits of manufactured products show our progress in this line; and among the most attractive features I must mention the beautiful and interesting handiwork of our noblewomen, without whose aid this commendable enterprise would fail.

"This enterprise and the exhibits here are useful in another and in my opinion a most important respect. It gives the people an opportunity to come together for recreation, diversion and enjoyment. They meet on occasions like this and forget the burdens and trials of life and the differences of opinion that exist among them. They join together in one common purpose to make themselves and others happy.

"There are two principal causes in life which bring people together; the one is pleasure, the other sorrow. We meet with our friends to join in their happiness or to condole with them in their griefs; and I regard those who provide means for human happiness as great benefactors of the human race. It is said that one of the principal causes of the great popularity of the late Governor Vance was the fact that he could make people laugh. It was a happy faculty which this distinguished man possessed in a most eminent degree. There is nothing more refreshing and invigorating to the human system than a good, hearty laugh; and when you see a man shake his sides and the tears roll down his cheeks with a good, old-fashioned, hearty laugh, you may know that his physical condition is first-rate. I do not believe that it was intended in our creation that we should diest ourselves of our human natures and lead lives that are too sedate or perhaps melancholy. On the other hand, it is more reasonable to conclude that we were expected to enjoy, within proper bounds, the opportunities which come in our way upon earth, and make our lives a source of happiness and pleasure. It is a source of happiness to make others happy, and I am sure that all who are engaged in this enterprise will exert themselves to this end.

"All classes and conditions come here on the same plane. The professional man, the agriculturalist, the manufacturer, the merchant, mechanic, the laborer, indeed every one is here given an opportunity to learn, to see, to hear and to enjoy himself. The old and the young, men and women, boys and girls, as well as the children, have all been considered in providing subjects of interest and entertainments for this occasion. The brain, the energy, the wealth and the hospitality of Greensboro, have all combined to make this Fair a success, and, conducted by our enterprising men and inspired by the presence of our fair ladies, it cannot fail.

"We have come together today under most favorable auspices for the enjoyment of an occasion like this. This beautiful October day bears evidence that the very elements are partial to the success of the Fair. The people of the country have been greatly blessed with all that goes to make us happy and contented. The nation has recently achieved a great victory over its enemies, and harmony and loyalty prevail throughout the Union. Our sectional differences have happily disappeared, and we have lived to see the day when "Hail Columbia" and the "Star Spangled Banner" have entwined themselves about "Dixie" and the "Bonnie Blue Flag" and together they constitute the national airs of a re-united, harmonious, invincible republic.

"I now thank, you, ladies and gentleman, for your kind attention, I bespeak for the Association success in its undertaking, and I bid all who have come or who may come to this annual fair of the Central Carolina Fair Association, a most hearty welcome."

THE RACES.

The racing this afternoon was very interesting. The track was in much better condition than had been expected and the contests were spirited, good time being made and the horses showing up well.

It was after 2 o'clock when the first race, the 2:30 class trotting, was called. In the first heat Marie drew the pole, with Mattie Lynn Holt second, Queen Bess third and Billy Miller fourth. The heat was won by Queen Bess, the time being 2:34. Marie came second, Mattie Lynn Holt third, Billy Miller fourth.

The second heat was also won by Queen Bess, the time being 2:34, one and a quarter better than the first heat.

The first heat of the 2:50 class, trotting and pacing, was won by Stonewall in 2:30. Dr. Klizer came second and Judge C third.

The Bank of France has an ingenious arrangement by which suspicious visitors can be photographed without their knowledge. Behind the desk of the cashier is a hidden photographic studio, and at a signal from any of the employees of the bank a picture of the suspected customer is instantly taken. The camera is also useful for detecting frauds, an erasure on a check, which may not be visible to the eye, being clearly perceptible in a photograph.

BUILT HIS OWN SEPULCHER.

An Eccentric Austrian in California Makes Preparations for His Interment.

In a grave built under his own directions the body of John Stivitch, an eccentric Austrian, was laid to rest at Jackson, Cal. Long before death summoned Stivitch the latter designed his own grave, or, more properly speaking, tomb. He spent many days cheerfully drawing up the plans, and with childish delight superintended the construction of the narrow mausoleum. When it was completed he laid himself down to die with a sigh of content, says a San Francisco exchange.

The grave is of ordinary length and width and seven feet deep. Its walls are of concrete and concrete a foot thick lines the bottom. Twelve inches from the bottom were placed four iron bars, upon which rested the coffin. After the coffin had been lowered iron bars were placed in like manner and the same distance from the top, and over them was placed a heavy zinc cover, fitting perfectly tight. Over this will now be placed a layer of concrete of the same thickness as on the walls, and on top will be the marble bearing the name, place of birth, age and date of death.

This manner of burial had been a hobby with Stivitch for a long time, and when he made his will he set aside $800 to cover the expense, the same being on deposit in a bank of Amador county, to be turned over to the contractor on completion of the work and its approval by a nephew, Andrew Perovich, who is named as executor in the will. Stivitch was 73 years old, a miner; had lived here many years and had many friends. He leaves an estate of several thousand dollars, but no nearer relatives than the nephew named.

The old man had no special disease, but had been failing for months. When told that the work on his peculiar grave had progressed as far as possible he remarked to Dr. Gall, his physician:

"Doctor, if you let me die to-night I will give you $100." But it was not to be. He lived eight days longer, during which time many citizens visited the cemetery to inspect the resting place for all that was mortal of the odd old Austrian.

Do not get scared if your heart troubles you. Most likely you suffer from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and gives the worn out stomach perfect rest. It is the only preparation known that completely digests all classes of foods; that is why it cures the worst cases of indigestion and stomach trouble after everything else has failed. QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other ailments. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 26th, 1900.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

On and after October 15th, 1900, we, the undersigned, will do a strictly cash business. Our reasons are as follows:

1st. Absolute NECESSITY.
2nd. Laundry, the world over, is a recognized cash business and justly so.
3rd. Our accounts are necessarily small, and it causes an endless amount of confusion and expense to collect, besides losses each year in bad bills.
4th. All of our current expenses, such as labor, fuel, gas and supplies are cash, hence the stand we take is forced upon us. While we very much regret, in most cases, to exact the spot cash, yet we must treat all alike, and we see no other way out of the difficulty. We trust our customers will lend us their aid by stating when to return laundry and by being prepared to pay for same when delivered. Our drivers will have positive instructions to return to the laundry all packages not paid for.

We have on sale at office (for cash) coupon books from $1 to $5 which can be left at convenient place at home, so that on delivery of bundle the amount of laundry bill can be torn out by the driver.

VERY RESPECTFULLY,

GREENSBORO STEAM LAUNDRY Jno. M. Dick, Proprietor,

saying that one-half of our money is not to be wiped out. For the only legislation which is upon our statute books now that binds us to silver is the Sherman law, which is threatened with unconditional repeal.

"I know that there has been a great deal of trouble in this country, fellow-citizens, and not unfrequently I am appealed to for God's sake to do something. Let unconditional repeal pass in order that this crisis may be off, and times get a little better. Fellow citizens, if I were to do so even at the entreaty of every man in North Carolina, I would be a traitor to the men I serve, so deep in my conviction that it is better to endure these ills for the sake of the more far-reaching remedy. Double standard of money is, I think, the remedy, and I feel that I must stand by it."

We challenge Judge Allen to produce a line from any Democratic paper that year showing that his candidate had a kind word to say for silver. The fight was between the man and the dollar, but Mr. Simmons did not hold up the hands of the matchless champions of silver, Wm. J. Bryan and Zebulon B. Vance, in the terrific struggle of 1893.

Will the people of North Carolina elect as their Senator one who knew they were being robbed by the gold standard in 1894, but did not tell them about it? This is a more important question than the Weekly's failure to recall Mr. Simmons' remarks in the convention of 1896.

The man who was indifferent in the crisis when Vance felt he would be a traitor to vote for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law is hardly the one to send to Washington to fight the money power now. If he failed Bryan in 1893, what assurance have we that he would not do so again?

Judge Allen, in effect, charges us with having tried to convey the impression that Mr. Simmons did not speak a word for silver in 1896. In his haste to convict us he overlooked the following in the Weekly of September 13:

"It is true that Mr. Simmons championed the cause of Mr. Bryan on the stump in 1896, as did Mr. Glenn, Mr. Aycock and other Federal appointees.

They deserve credit for standing by their guns, but the party can not make Senators of all of them."

Adopting his own logic, we say if he knew of the above, should not common honesty have compelled him to incorporate it in his article? If he did not know it, does he not owe it to truth and decency to correct the false impression that he has made, now that he knows we gave Mr. Simmons credit for championing the cause of Mr. Bryan on the stump in 1896?

ABBEY'S MEDICAL TALKS

The Cause.—An excess of bile which overflows into the stomach.

The Effect.—Headache, Indigestion, Drowsiness, Coated tongue, Bad taste in the mouth.

The Result.—It disturbs the action of the kidneys, stomach, liver, heart, bowels, brain or skin.

The Cure.—ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT.

A bilious attack is serious. The very sensation of biliousness is nauseating. Abbey's Salt cures, if prevention is too late. It goes at once to the seat of trouble. Abbey's makes the liver active and disposes of the excess of bile. It softens the hard matter left in the bowels, and when this has been done, the biliousness disappears and with it all the dyspeptic nightmares that have tortured you.

If, before the attack you knew Abbey's Salt would have prevented it, its weight in gold would have made it cheap to you.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

France makes nearly 26,000,000 pairs of gloves yearly, and of these 18,000,000 pairs are exported.

An ingenious mechanical device pastes paper labels on 100,000 cans in ten hours. Down a shoot rolls a ceaseless procession of cans, and each can picks up a label as it passes.

Water, if subjected to great compression and then decomposed by means of an electric current into its elements, oxygen and hydrogen, explodes with tremendous force in the process.

An example of patient industry is the sorting of hogs' bristles as it is carried on at Tientsin, China. Each one of the bristles has to be picked out, measured and placed in the bundle of hairs of corresponding length.

The Council of the American Chemical Society has passed resolutions favoring the creation of a bureau of chemistry. The laws of the various states controlling food adulteration are largely ineffective, because of the interference of interstate commerce laws, and can be made effective only through national legislation.

More perfect combustion in furnaces is secured by Mr. Paul Schlicht by novel means. He has discovered that on properly introducing an air current into a chimney, it takes a course opposite to that of the hot gases, and its oxygen reaches the center of the fire in a heated condition favorable for completely uniting with the fuel.

Advantage is taken of different bands of porosity in agates to effect the coloring, which is done in the case of black onyx by immersing the stone in a mixture of honey and water where it remains several weeks at a high temperature. It is then boiled in sulphuric acid, which carbonates the saccharous matter that has penetrated the stone, thus rendering certain bands an intense black. Various colorations may be produced by different chemical reactions.

The printing of books with Braille type for the benefit of the blind has made immense progress in England within the last few years. The Central Lending Library, of Birmingham, has no less than 500 books printed with Braille type. This extensive library comprises the works of such favorite authors as Shakespeare, Browning, Sir Walter Scott, Tennyson and Ruskin. The Plymouth public library has also a similar collection of about 250 volumes, and numerous other libraries throughout the country possess similar collections for the entertainment of those deprived of their sight.

UNINVITED GUESTS.

A Kind of Bee That Makes Its Home with the Bumblebees.

In St. Nicholas there is an article on "Some Common Bees and How They Live," by A. Hyatt Verrill. He says:

Unlike the honey bees, the bumblebee queens, to their credit be it said, are not of a jealous disposition, but live peacefully together in one nest until in the autumn the family breaks up, the old queens, workers and drones perishing, while the young queens, forsaken and alone, crawl away to some protected spot, wherein to pass the winter and reappear in the spring and found another colony.

If you should examine a bumblebee's nest you would probably find among our busy, hard-working friends a number of individuals who never labor for their living, and although they come and go with perfect freedom, never bring pollen or honey, nor aid in making wax. These are the "guest bees," or inquilines, a species which depend on their host the bumblebee to furnish them board and rooms rent free.

The inquilines, like the European cuckoo or the American cow-bunting among birds, lay their eggs by stealth in the bumblebees' nests. The young, when hatched, are cared for by their foster parents, and when full-grown are treated with as much consideration as though they were guests of honor. Why the bumblebees should permit their uninvited visitors to remain with them is a mystery; for although some species closely resemble their hosts in size and color, others are quite different. It can hardly be supposed, therefore, that they are mistaken for rightful members of the colony. On this account many naturalists have thought that they perform some important service in return for their hospitable reception; but of what this duty, if any, consists has never been discovered.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMEN WHO WORK.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.
Though only 19 years old, I suffered from pains and female troubles two years. Last spring I got so bad I had to quit work. I had to support myself, and could not afford a high-priced doctor. I got one bottle of Wine of Cardui and that made me feel better. Have now used several bottles and am well. My mother used the Wine for Change of Life and was greatly relieved.

MISS MARGARET WALSH.

McLREE'S
Wine of Cardui

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, headache and backache. The pay of women workers is often so notoriously small that when sickness comes they have no money to engage skillful physicians. To them Wine of Cardui is truly a blessing. It cures them of their ills at a small cost, and they can act as their own physicians. No doctor can do as much for "female troubles" as Wine of Cardui.

SIMPLE INCIDENTS.

A Few Things Seen and Heard in Today's Great Rush.

The management of "The Sleeping Car," desires to thank all those who assisted in anyway in making it the success it was.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Clarke have gone to house-keeping. They occupy the residence on the corner of King and East Lee streets.

Mr. L. V. Butler and Miss Lula Prince will be married in Spring Garden Street Chapel this evening at 8:30 o'clock. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Dr. L. W. Crawford.

In the write-up of the exhibits at the Fair, in yesterday's Telegram, the Tar Heel Liniment Company should have been the Tar Heel Medicine Company. This company's exhibit is one of the most unique and interesting in Exhibition Hall.

Joseph Jensen, a clockmaker, of Richfield, Utah, has just completed an interesting clock, which, besides striking the hours, halves and quarters and showing the phases of the moon, tells what time it is in every city in the world. This is done by means of a globe which revolves within a transparent globular glass. On this glass is marked a line representing 12 o'clock noon, and as the globe revolves this line is always directly over that part of the world where it is noon at that time. There are other lines representing the different hours, and in this way it is a very simple matter to get the exact time at any given place.

Rest for the Congregation.

One of the strange infelicities which are sometimes found on grave-stones in ancient churchyards seems to have been perpetrated in the inscription on the tablet erected in memory of the late Rev. Dr. John Hall, which has been placed in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church in New York. After giving the name and mortuary record of Dr. Hall, the inscription says:

For Forty-nine Years
A Presbyterian Minister.
Pastor of This Church
From Nov. 3, 1857, to Sept. 17, 1898.
There Remained, Therefore, a Rest to the People of God.

If Dr. Hall could read it, he would not feel flattered. No man who had preached 49 years would like to have it said that the people enjoyed a rest after his departure to the skies.

STREET PARADE.

Prof. Gentry's Famous Dog and Pony Show will give their street parade about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning; starting from the show grounds the procession will parade the principal streets. It will be unique and pretty display, in which all the dogs, ponies and monkeys will be seen, to say nothing about the tiny elephants, the military band, and all the other numerous features of this excellent show. All the little folks should be on hand to see the parade, which will be the prettiest ever seen in this city.

Eyestrain Cause headaches, dizziness, nervousness, neuralgia, etc. Nothing can effect a permanent cure that does not remove the cause. Drs. Moore's glasses will help.

An anxious seeker after knowledge writes to ask what use the sun spots are. Why, to make freckles, of course.

Lots of men will grumble about their wives' extravagance, and then go out and pay $25 for a slab-sided, lop-eared, moth-eaten pup.

School Children's Eyes supply their intellect. Defective eyes stunt the mind. Can't expect progress in school if so handicapped. See Drs. Moore.

The idiot who devises freak election bets seems to be very quiet this year.

One thing about a peal of laughter is that you can't step on it like that of the banana.

Warnings Of excessive eyestrain should be heeded and the best remedy secured. See Drs. Moore.

Even the well digger is not exempt from sickness.

To the chronic borrower any sort of a day is bracing weather.

Bird's Nest on Sheep's Back.
What is certainly an odd occurrence is reported from Michigan. While a farmer was shearing a sheep, a little brown egg fell from the fleece and broke on the floor. The shearer investigated and found a bird's nest on the sheep's back, so constructed that with ordinary treatment the eggs could not roll out; but the bird had not figured on the clipping of the wool. The nest, of course, was warmer than the ordinary kind would have been; but how the mother bird could distinguish which of the flock of sheep bore her nest is a difficult question to answer.

STORY OF A SLAVE.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. Geo. D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle-working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run-down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.
